

home > communication > med-desire conference: "new markets, new challenges for renewable energy and energy efficiency in the mediterranean region"

COMMUNICATION

News
Calendar
Links
Press corner
Video gallery
Feature stories

MED-DESIRE conference: "New markets, new challenges for renewable energy and energy efficiency in the Mediterranean region"

The Andalusian Energy Agency is organizing a conference under the title "New markets, new challenges for renewable energy and energy efficiency in the Mediterranean region" which will take place on 13th November 2014 in Seville, Spain. This event is part of the capitalization activities of the MED-DESIRE project which aims at spreading energy efficiency, and in particular, solar energy, across the Mediterranean area.

The conference will see the participation of stakeholders and experts from both sides of the Mediterranean basin and will offer an overview of the latest legislative and financial tools for the take up of solar energy. Silvia Cubadda of the Joint Technical Secretariat will present upcoming cooperation opportunities related to energy efficiency under the new ENI CBC Med Programme.

Agenda

For more information, please visit the MED-DESIRE website.

Contacts

Anna Liberti
ARTI - Regional Agency for Technology and Innovation
a.liberti@arti.puglia.it

08.11.2014

Programme funded by the European Union
EuropeAid Development and Cooperation

Joint Managing Authority
© 2014 Regione Autonoma della Sardegna
contacts | rss | transparency | legal notices

